

The Economics of Peace and Security Journal

© www.epsjournal.org.uk
ISSN 1749-852X

A publication of Economists for Peace and Security (UK)

Editors

Jurgen Brauer, Augusta State University, Augusta, GA, USA
J. Paul Dunne, University of the West of England, Bristol, UK

Vol. 1, No. 1 (2006)

Foreword and introduction to this new journal by James K. Galbraith and by the editors

Conflict or Development?

Essays

Joseph E. Stiglitz on civil strife

Paul Collier on economic consequences of conflict

E. Wayne Nafziger on inequality and war in Africa

Neil Cooper on peaceful warriors and warring peacemakers

Country studies

Manuel Ennes Ferreira on Angola

Tilman Brück on Mozambique

Business and conflict

J. Paul Dunne on Denel, South Africa's arms manufacturer

David Gold on conflict diamonds

The Economics of Peace and Security Journal

© www.epsjournal.org.uk, ISSN 1749-852X

A publication of Economists for Peace and Security (UK)

Editors

Jurgen Brauer, Augusta State University, Augusta, GA, USA
J. Paul Dunne, University of the West of England, Bristol, UK

Managing editor

Sam Perlo-Freeman, University of the West of England, Bristol, UK

Web editor

Alvin Birdi, University of Sussex, UK

Book review editor

Bjørn Møller (Danish Institute for International Studies, Copenhagen, Denmark)

Associate editors

Michael Brzoska (Germany)

Neil Cooper (UK)

Lloyd J. Dumas (USA)

Manuel Ferreira (Portugal)

David Gold (USA)

Gülay Günlük-Şenesen (Turkey)

Peter Hall (Australia)

Geoff Harris (South Africa)

Keith Hartley (UK)

Christos Kollias (Greece)

Stefan Markowski (Australia)

Thomas Scheetz (Argentina)

Elisabeth Sköns (Sweden)

Ron Smith (UK)

Herbert Wulf (Germany)

Advisory board

Wolfram Elsner, University of Bremen, Bremen, Germany

Jacques Fontanel, University Pierre Mendès France, Grenoble, France

James Galbraith, University of Texas, Austin, USA

Michael D. Intriligator, University of California at Los Angeles, USA

Richard Kaufman, Consultant, Washington, DC, USA

John Tepper Marlin, Comptroller's Office, City of New York, USA

Piet Terhal, University of Amsterdam, Amsterdam, Holland

David Throsby, Macquarie University, Sydney, Australia

Ruslan Grinberg, Russian Academy of Sciences, Moscow, Russia

EPS trustees

George Akerlof*, Oscar Arias*, Kenneth J. Arrow*, William J. Baumol, Barbara Bergmann, Andrew Brimmer, John Kenneth Galbraith, Walter Isard, Lawrence R. Klein*, Daniel L. McFadden*, Robert S. McNamara, Douglass C. North*, Robert Reich, Robert J. Schwartz, Amartya Sen*, William Sharpe*, Robert M. Solow*, Joseph E. Stiglitz*, and Janet Yellen (*Nobel Laureate)

Aims and scope

This journal raises and debates all issues related to the political economy of personal, communal, national, international, and global peace and security. The scope includes implications and ramifications of conventional and nonconventional conflict for all human and non-human life and for our common habitat. Special attention is paid to constructive proposals for conflict resolution and peacemaking. While open to non-economic approaches, most contributions emphasize economic analysis of causes, consequences, and possible solutions to mitigate conflict.

The journal is aimed at specialist and non-specialist readers, including policy analysts, policy and decision makers, national and international civil servants, members of the armed forces and of peacekeeping services, the business community, members of non-governmental organizations and religious institutions, and others. Contributions are scholarly-based, but written in a general-interest style.

Issues of the EPS Journal are theme-based and contributions are generally solicited by the editors, before being subjected to peer review. Readers are, however, encouraged to submit proposals for an issue based on a particular theme, or to correspond with the editors over specific contributions that they might wish to make. In addition, comments on published articles of less than 500 words are welcome. Please write us at editors@epsjournal.org.uk or contact us via the journal's home page at www.epsjournal.org.uk.